CHEAP LUMBER

There is Quality in lumber; don't forget that. Poor lumber means a cold crude house; difficult to live in; difficult to rent and difficult to sell. We carry cheap lumber suitable for some purposes but the kind you want in your new home we make a specialty of. Inquire about our hardwood flooring. It costs you little more than fir and it adds greatly to the value of the house. We store our high grades in completely enclosed warehouses protecting the lumber from dust, rain and sun. Our purchases are of such magnitude that we demand the best lumber for the least money. Our customers get the benefit.

Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at the time of child-birth, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal healthy, and strong.

Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict confidence.

Specific Statement

"Were you quarrelling with your wife? When I came in I heard you talking loud."
"No. When we're quarrelling she's the one that talks."—Cleveland Leader.

WHAT CAN I DO FOR MY SKIN- TORTURED BABY?

Is the Despairing Cry of Thousands of Mothers. A Scotchwoman Tells How Her Child was Cured.

"What can I do for my skin-tortured baby?" How many worried, worn-out mothers, whose children are suffering with eczema, tetter or other torturing, disfiguring humor, have asked themselves this question! Through neglect or improper treatment, some minor eruption has developed into a distressing and unsightly affliction. Simple treatments fail, and stronger ones are tried, sometimes so harsh that the suffering is increased rather than allayed. Even professional aid has proved useless, and the fear is ever-present that the skin disease will become chronic, turning the child's future into a nightmare of physical and mental misery.

Such mothers, who have witnessed their children's suffering and who have undergone the long, sleepless nights and distracting anxiety which they alone can realize, will understand the grainy note that prompted this letter from Mrs. John Ewan, 5 Victoria St., Inverurie, Scotland, and will read it with keenest interest.

"I use Cuticura Soap steadily for my baby's skin. She had the eczema when she was three months old. She was in an awful mess all over her body. We never thought she would get over it. We sat with her night and day for about a month, expecting every minute to see her die. The doctor gave me an ointment to rub her with but it did her no good. My mother was home from America and she told me to try Cuticura Ointment and to wash her with Cuticura Soap. There was a great difference when I used the first box. It seemed to soothe her and she slept. I used three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and she was quite cured. She has the purest skin and is the fattest baby now! She is a miracle, the doctor declares. I am glad to tell any body about it."

And that the success of the Cuticura Remedies is not confined to the treatment of eczema, is the latest proof by Mrs. M. A. Schwerin, 674 Springwells Ave., Detroit, Mich., who writes:

"When my little Vivian was about six months old, her papa had a boil on his forehead. At that time the child was covered with prickly heat and I suppose in scratching at her own head became infected, for it broke out in boils one after another. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her of them entirely. We do not think any one can praise Cuticura Remedies too highly."

That mothers may test the efficacy and economy of the Cuticura Remedies for themselves, the Potter Drug and Chem. Corp., 121 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass., will send free on application, a generous trial box of Cuticura Ointment, sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of eczema, rashes, itching and scalings of the skin and scalp. Under the influence of Cuticura Ointment, the itching and burning stop, the child falls into a refreshing sleep, the mother rests, and for the first time, perhaps, in many weeks, peace falls on a distracted household. The Cuticura Remedies are sold by druggists everywhere.

How Winchester Guns and Cartridges Are Made

As the hunting season will soon be here sportsmen generally are thinking of their hunting outfit. This makes it more opportune to call attention to the repeating rifles, repeating shotguns and ammunition of all kinds manufactured by the Winchester Repeating Arms Company—the largest manufacturers of arms and ammunition in the world—which are justly celebrated for their superiority and reliability. Over two million Winchester guns have been sold during the forty odd years they have been upon the market, and today they are in general use all over the world. Having established such a demand for their guns and ammunition the Winchester Company strive to maintain them by exercising great care in the selection of the materials used, and by employing modern methods and machinery in manufacturing their product. The Winchester Company employ the leading experts in gun and ammunition making, and expend annually a large amount of money in experimental work and in perfecting new and desirable types of guns and ammunition. By means of this experimental work and by an exacting system of tests and inspections embracing every stage of manufacture, from the materials in their rough state to the finished product, the Winchester Company are enabled to keep thoroughly modern in every way and up to a high degree of perfection. As proof of the superiority of Winchester cartridges might be cited the report of the Board of Government Experts who, after a thorough test of various makes, reported officially that Winchester rifle cartridges were superior to all others. This is the second year that Winchester cartridges have been so honored. Notwithstanding their superiority and the care taken in manufacturing Winchester guns and ammunition, they cost the consumer no more than inferior makes. Quality considered, Winchester goods are the cheapest upon the market. Winchester goods are sold by most all reputable dealers in hardware and sporting goods.

ECONOMY IN FEEDING

Good pasture is sweet and fragrant. These qualities are deficient in dry foods, and they are essential to ensure thorough assimilation and prevent waste of food. Food not fully assimilated sooner or later impairs the health. During about twenty-five years Herbageum has, without failure, efficiently and economically replaced those essential qualities, and its regular use with all classes of animals is advised. The cost per month for each horse, cow, heave, hog, or for about twenty fowls is not over 15c, and for sheep and calves not over 5c per month each. It is manufactured by the Beaver Manufacturing Company, Limited, of Galt, Ontario.

Exactly So.

Faultless in Preparation.—Unlike any other stomach regulator, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are the result of long study of vegetable compounds calculated to stimulate the stomachic functions and maintain them at the normal condition. Years of use have proved their faultless character and established their excellent reputation. And this reputation they have maintained for years and will continue to maintain, for these pills must always stand at the head of the list of standard preparations.

A soda water bath is soothing to the irritated skin. A heaping teaspoon of soda to a pint of water makes a lotion which can be applied and allowed to dry on the skin. Two pounds of the bicarbonate of soda put into a tub of tepid water deep enough to cover the entire body is a bath which is beneficial during the heated days.

Change of food and water in some strange place where there are no doctors may bring on an attack of dysentery. He then has a standard remedy at hand with which to cope with the disorder, and forearmed he can successfully fight the ailment and subdue it.

Thackeray's Memory

It was not only his money that Thackeray gave to boys; he was always willing to devote his time to amusing them. He would take them to the pantomime and he would give them dinner first. On one occasion he took Herriman Merivale, then a lad, to dinner at the Garrick club. Years later Merivale asked the great man if he remembered having done so.
"Why, of course," said Thackeray, promptly; "and, what is more, I remember I gave you beefsteak and apricot omelet." The young man was delighted that his host should recollect even the details of the entertainment, and expressed his satisfaction.
"Yes," said Thackeray, twinkling, "I always gave boys beefsteak and apricot omelet."—Century Magazine.

AN INQUEST AT SQUAW CREEK

Wasn't none of us denied it that we played the leadin' hand
Sendin' Mexican Rinaldo to the greaser promised land.
He had played up provocation for us doin' of the same
By a-palmin' all the aces in an honest poker game.
Flyin' rumors o' the lynchin' in some unknown manner got
To the county seat below us an' precipitately brought
The ol' coroner a-sailin' fur to take the needless pains
Of a-holdin' of an inquest on the weather chilled remains.

Said it was a legal duty an' the jury's verdict might
Git the reckless perpetrators in a tangle purty tight.
Fur the sudden elevation of a mortal to a tree
Was a crime, as per the statutes, of quite serious degree.
We endeavored to convince him that the statutes didn't go
In the Squaw Creek jurisdiction, but he wouldn't have it so.
An' he asked us all to lick in sich gentlemanly way
That we modestly informed him he could make his legal play.

So he summoned up a jury, an' it started on its work
By electin' me the foreman, a polish I couldn't shirk.
An' we met in solemn order, every face a-wearin' woe
Quite befittin' an event of sich solemnity, you know.

Then the witnesses was questioned, an' they all expressed surprise
At the startlin' information of the Mexican's demise
An' upon their oaths asserted they was more than satisfied
That he jes' got tired o' livin' an' committed suicide.

All the skill of the official couldn't shake their evidence,
An' the coroner was puzzled at their ignorance so intense.
Fur 'twas proved beyond a question that we'd neither heard nor read
Fore the coroner's arrival that the Mexican was dead.

He remarked in snappy manner that he thought it mighty queer
That a thing like that could happen in a camp an' no one hear
Nary cursed word about it, an' to bolster up his view
By coincidence we told him that us fellows thought so too.

After due deliberation in a strictly legal way
An' considerin' the evidence brought forward in the play
We returned a proper verdict to the coroner, which read:
"We the jury here assembled find the cold remains is dead."
When I handed him the same I tuk occasion to remark
That some tragedies had happened here in Squaw Creek after dark.
An' the sun was jes' a-settin', an' the way his broncho's feet
Hit the landscape down the mountain was a pleasurable treat.
—James Barton Adams in Puck.

Faint?

Have you weak heart, dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals? Or do you experience pain over the heart, shortness of breath on going up stairs and the many distressing symptoms which indicate poor circulation and bad blood? A heart tonic, blood and body-builder that has stood the test of over 40 years of cures is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

The heart becomes regular as clock-work. The red blood corpuscles are increased in number—and the nerves in turn are well fed. The arteries are filled with good rich blood. That is why nervous debility, irritability, fainting spells, disappear and are overcome by this alternative extract of medicinal roots put up by Dr. Pierce without the use of alcohol. Ask your neighbor. Many have been cured of Dr. Pierce's Discovery. Just the refreshing and vitalizing tonic needed for excessive tissue waste, in convalescence from fevers or for run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people. Stick to this safe and sane remedy and refuse all "just as good" kinds offered by the dealer who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing will do you half as much good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Wash your hands with "SNAP" before and after milking. It cleanses them thoroughly and removes all odors. Use it on the cow's teats when necessary.

Child Labor

The National Bureau of Child Labor has recently recommended that a Children's bureau should be established in the United States with its head as a part of the President's Cabinet at Washington.

A new view of the child in relation to citizenship is gradually becoming stronger upon the horizon, and some are already dreaming of the time when every child will have an equal opportunity to gather the best of citizenship.

It is the right of every child to be well born. Unfortunately the large percentage of children do not make a good choice of parents and their lives are handicapped before they are launched into the world. Two hundred years ago, in the city of London, three quarters of all the children born died before the completion of their fifth year. That percentage has been pushed down until now it is something like 25 instead of 75.

Even now, throughout the urban districts of America, one-seventh of all babies born die before they reach the age of one year.

Milk poisoning, ignorance of mothers as to how to feed and care for children, lack of necessary facilities for surgical and medical treatment inability to nurse their babies either for physical or economic reasons—these things lie back of the high rate of mortality among infants.

In addition to these, one great cause of stunted citizenship, is found in the economic conditions which compel children to work in order to assist the family to meet the every day drain on the purse and to support children younger than themselves.

Every child has a right to a glorious fullness of enjoyment. This seems to have been intended by the Creator.—Not the artificial, forced development of assumed happiness found in the over-rich, but the spontaneous activity and growth of an unexploited and protected childhood.

At the present time, the Department of Neglected Children at Edmonton have a number of children who want the right to grow up under a normal environment and to become good men and women of whom the country will be proud. The younger a child is taken, the more satisfactory the child will become in its foster-home. Later, the problem grows more difficult of eradicating habits and character traits developed often under very bad conditions.

Four little boys under nine months of age are hunting for homes. One little Catholic girl aged 12 years is anxious for a good home, and another Catholic girl aged 8 years; one Protestant boy of 7 and one particularly bright baby boy of 5 months, (Catholic)

These children are all anxious for a good home where they will be able to grow to be good citizens. The investment of time and money upon them will be returned a hundred fold in affection as the little ones grow into manhood and womanhood, and in satisfaction as their success in life is watched by the foster-parents.

Fuller particulars of each child can be obtained by writing to the Superintendent of Neglected Children at Edmonton.

A Children's Aid Society

Every community in the Province of Alberta should have a live active Children's Aid Society. There are always cases of neglect and cruelty in every part of the country, which should come under the care of some person or persons who would be responsible for bringing the details of the case to attention of the Department of Neglected Children, in order that the parents might be prosecuted for the criminal neglect of those for whom they should be held accountable.

A Children's Aid Society can be organized in any district where there is a desire on the part of the citizens to have such a society. The object of this Society is to receive reports of cases concerning the neglect of or cruelty to children to investigate all complaints of ill-treatment, to place homeless children in good family homes, to report on cases where applications have been received for children, and see that the home conditions are of the proper kind to which a child should be sent.

A Children's Aid Society should stand for social uplift, sanitary housing, regular school attendance a fair chance for the juvenile offender, and an opportunity of equal rights for every child who is born in the community.

Those who are interested in a work of this kind are requested to write to the Superintendent of Neglected Children at Edmonton, and if there is interest enough in the community from which the application comes for the formation of a Children's Aid Society, an organization will be started as soon as possible which will be given full powers under the Children's Protection Act of Alberta.

"Well," Vera said, loftily, "you don't expect to find him in here, I suppose. Of course, if your duties carry you so far as to ransack a lady's room, I will not prevent you." The absolute iciness of the whole thing profoundly impressed the listeners. Astute as they were, it never occurred to them that the girl was acting a part; furthermore, with their intimate knowledge of Fenwick's past, they knew well enough that Vera had no cause to shield the man of whom they were in search.

"We will not trouble you," Egan stammered. "It is a mere matter of form, and it would be absurd to suppose that our man is concealed in your room. In all probability he received news of our coming and got away without warning his companions. It is just the sort of thing that a man of his type would do. We have the rest of the gang all safe, but we shall certainly have to look elsewhere for their chief. Will you please accept our apologies?"

Vera waved the men aside haughtily. She was glad to turn her back upon them, so that they could not see the expression of her face. She was trembling violently now, for her courage had suddenly deserted her. For some long time she stood there in the corridor, until, presently, she heard the noise of wheels as two vehicles drove away. Then, with a great sigh of relief, she recognized the fact that the detectives had left the house. She opened the door of her room and called aloud to Fenwick. She called again and again without response.

"Oh, you can come out," she said, contemptuously. "There is no cause to fear, for those men have gone."

A moment later the yellow, fear-distorted face of Mark Fenwick peeped out into the corridor. He came shambling along on tottering limbs, and his great coarse mouth twitched horribly. It seemed to Vera as if she were looking at a mere travesty of the man who so short a time ago had been so strong and masterful and courageous.

"They gave me a rare fright," Fenwick said in a senile way. He seemed to have aged twenty years in the last few minutes. "That—that was very cool and courageous of you, my dear. I couldn't have done it any better myself. You dear, kind girl." He advanced now and would have taken Vera's hand in his, but she turned from him with loathing. She was wondering which she disliked most—the cold, cruel, determined criminal, or this miserable wreck of a man glad to lean on anyone for support.

"Don't touch me," she said, with a shudder. "Don't thank me for anything. I should have handed you over to those men gladly. I was ready and willing to do so only my brother recalled to me the fact that the same blood runs in the veins of both of us. It was the remembrance of this that made me lie just now, that caused me to run the risk of a criminal charge myself. For I understand that anybody who harbors a thief for whose arrest a warrant has been issued, runs the risk of going to jail. And to think that Le Fenwick should do a thing of that kind for such a creature as yourself—it is too amazing."

"I suppose it is, my dear," Fenwick said in the same carping voice. "I never expected to find myself shielded behind a woman. But I have lost all my nerve lately, and the more I drink to drown my troubles, the worse I get. But you must not think too badly of me, for I am not so black as I am painted."

"Could you be any blacker?" Vera asked. "Could any human being have descended lower than you have descended? I think not. You imagine because I threw in my lot with you three years ago that I knew nothing of your crimes. As a matter of fact, I knew everything. I knew how you had shifted the responsibility of that dastardly murder on to the shoulders of the man who is in love with my sister Beth. It was for her sake that I pretended ignorance, for her sake that I came with you to try to get to the bottom of your designs. What I have endured in the time nobody but myself can know. But it has all come out now, and here I am today trying to shield you from the very vengeance that I have been plotting for you all this time. Oh, don't say anything; don't deny it; don't add more useless lies to the catalogue of your vices. Go now. Let us see the last of you, and never intrude upon us again."

All this outburst of indignation had apparently been wasted on Fenwick, for he did not appear to be listening at all. He had enough troubles of his own, and, despite the fact that his nerve had failed him, it was no feeling of remorse that left him stricken and trembling and broken down before Vera's scornful eyes. He could only whine and protest that he was absolutely helpless.

"But what can I do?" he murmured, with senile tears in his eyes. "I am not so young as I was; indeed, I am much older than people take me for. I have no money and no friends, there is not a place I can go to. Don't turn me out—let me stay here, where I shall be safe."

"It is impossible," said Vera, coldly. "We have done enough, and more than enough for you. Now, come this way, and I will hand you over to my brother and Mr. Evers. They are cleverer than I am, and may be able to devise some means for getting you out of the country. Why don't you come?"

"I can't," Fenwick almost sobbed. "There is something in my limbs that renders them powerless. If you will give me your arm, I daresay I shall be able to get as far as the little room."

The touch of the man was pollution, but Vera bravely endured it. She could hear the excited servants talking in whispers downstairs, and one of them might appear at any moment. It would be far better for the domestic staff to assume that the culprit had vanished, otherwise their gossip would assuredly bring the detectives back again without delay. Vera was glad enough when her task was finished and the trembling form of Mark Fenwick was lowered into a seat. The cunning look was still in his eyes; the born criminal would never get rid of that expression, though for the rest he was an object now more of pity than fear.

"It is very good of you," he said, "for if you do not let me stay here I will be discovered."

"That is absolutely certain," Le Fenwick said, coldly. "Most assuredly you can't remain here. You may remain for the night, and Mr. Evers and myself will try and think of a plan between us."

"And Zary," Fenwick whispered. The mention of that dreaded name set him trembling again. "Keep me away from Zary. I am afraid of a good many things, but the mere mention of that man's name stops my heart beating and suffocates me." "You had better go away," Le Fenwick said to Vera. "And leave the wretched creature to us. There will be no trouble in hiding him here for a bit. There are two rooms here that nobody knows anything about except Evers and his father."

Vera was only too glad to get away into the open air, glad to feel that at least this nerve-destriving mystery was coming to an end. She wanted to see Venner, too, and tell him all that had happened. In all probability he was waiting at the accustomed spot. With a light heart and a feeling of youthfulness upon her that she had not felt for some time, Vera set out on her journey.

JUST A MISTAKE.

The Antique Collector and a Bargain Jewel Casket.

The collector had been sneering at Americans for their ignorance of antiques. We had been walking in Venice, down a narrow calle while he was speaking. "Look at that old brass scale," he resumed, pointing to a fish stall in the little outdoor market on which we had just emerged. "There's a gem, not very old, but of the finest seventeenth century Venetian work. If you saw that in a New York dealer's, all cleaned up, you'd give up a good deal for it, but you'd a passed it by a dozen times if I hadn't spoken about it. See that old junk stand over there? I never pass a thing like that. You can never tell what you may pick up—if you only know."

We had scarcely reached the stand when the collector thrust out his hand with the swiftness of a hawk darting on its prey and swooped upon a little jewel box.

"Carnelian! Russian, I should say, from the Ural mountains. It's not of great value, but it's a pretty little thing if it was cleaned up. It's mine, anyway." To the keeper of the stall: "Quanto?"

The Venetian slowly uncoiled himself and came down from the church steps, where he had been sleeping.

"Does the signore want the pretty trifle? The signore knows its value better than I, and he'll be generous?" "I'll give you a lira for it. It isn't worth it, but one mustn't be hard with the poor."

"I had hope I should get five!"

"Well, I'll make it two."

"It is the signore's."

"There, you see!" exultingly chuckled the collector. "That's what it is to know. An exquisite carnelian Russian jewel casket for 40 cents! You'd never have thought of looking among a lot of rusty old iron for a thing like that, would you?"

While speaking he held the box with a miser's clutch.

"May I see it, please?"

He reluctantly handed it to me as though fearing I might make a sudden dash down the calle with his treasure.

"Phew!" said I contemptuously, handing the box back to him. "It's not carnelian at all. It's glass—nothing but glass."

"Glass!" drawing a magnifier from his waistcoat pocket and mutely examining the purchase. "I'm—I'm afraid—it is!" he said sheepishly.

"Of course it is," sadly. "Yes, it is glass! You see, it's so dirty. Oh, well, we all make mistakes at times. Do you want it?" disgust taking the place of sadness. "You can have it for a quarter."

"Well, I guess it's worth a quarter." "I think my eyes must have snapped."

"Yes."

And that is how an almost unique example of the cinque cento came into my collection of Venetian glass.

QUAKER "HOWLERS."

Funny Schoolboy Answers Chronicled by an English Journal.

"Past and Present," the Friends School Magazine, publishes some amusing blunders which have been noted in examinations at the society's schools. An undergraduate, many will be interested to learn on the authority of staid young students, is (1) a person not up to the mark; (2) a lower class of board school. Other budding Dr. Johnsons have been equally original in the matter of definitions.

"A circle is the amount taken in by the line which goes all round."

"Parallel straight lines, even if produced to eternity, cannot expect to meet each other."

"A solid is that which hasn't any space under the circumference."

"An autobiography is the life of an animal written after it is dead—as a moral."

"An abstract noun is one that cannot be heard, seen, touched, or smelt"; or, to take the pessimistic view of another, it is "the name of something which has no existence, as goodness."

"An axis is an imaginary line on which the earth is supposed to take its daily routine."

"The Pharisees were people who like to show off their goodness by praying in synagogues."

The following illustrate history as remembered by the Quaker schoolboy:

"Joan of Arc was a peasant's daughter, dressed in a man's clothes, and went to fight the English and was slain, and her soldiers said don't you think you had better wait till tomorrow to besiege Rouen."

"The Wars of the Roses killed a lot of the important knights and they got another start."

"Elizabeth had a better claim to the throne than Mary, for she had possession nine-tenths of the throne by law."

"Far away on the deep the Spanish Armada saw the beacon fires twinkling in endless chain from St. Michael's Mount to the Yorkshire Moors, and knew that England was ready."

"Charles I. was going to be married to the Infanta of Spain; he went to see her and broke it off at once."

It is interesting to be informed, too, that "Every German goes to school at an early age, however old he is."

King George's Little Joke.

King George has always been fond of a joke, and he found a rare opportunity for one once. His ship was lying off Portsmouth, and coaling had been taking place. In this the prince, like everyone else on board had to take his share. When he had finished he looked a pretty picture being coal-dust from the crown of his head to the soles of his boots. One of his messmates made the laughing remark that his grandmother, then staying at Osborne, would have something of a shock if she could see him at the moment. "By Jove," said his royal highness, "what a lark! I have a good mind to let her see me!"

His brother officers egged him on, and a boat was lowered away and off went the prince, as black as a nigger. By some means or other he managed to gain access to the grounds of Osborne, and presently the familiar donkey-chaise bearing the late Queen-hove in sight. When it got close to him he stepped from where he had been concealed, and approached her majesty, who gazed at the weird apparition in amazement. Then she made a movement as though to call one of her attendants to throw him out of the place.

"Oh, all right, I will go if you like," said his royal highness in assumed dudgeon, "but I must say that I don't think it is a very kind way to greet your loving grandson!" Even the grave old Queen was forced to break into a smile as she recognized the royal sailor, but, from all accounts, he received rather a severe "dressing down" from her majesty when he joined the royal party at dinner late in the day, over the "unseemliness" of his conduct.

A Gallant Soldier.

Major Harry N. Schofield, V.C., formerly of the Royal Artillery, is now a member of the King's Bodyguard of the Honourable Corps of Gentlemen-at-Arms, in succession to Col. Charles Cooch, retired upon half-pay.

Major Schofield, who is now in his 47th year, entered the Royal Artillery in 1884, and gained his Victoria Cross during the last South African War for heroic conduct at Colenso. He was one of the gallant band who went with other officers, including Lieut. the Hon. F. H. S. Roberts, son of Field Marshal Earl Roberts, to bring in the guns after the men of the battery had been shot down by the Boer shells.

Major Schofield got his team together, and was able to bring in one of the only two guns which were saved.

What It Is That Wins.

A countrywoman remarked to her neighbor during a conversation on their return from market, "How is it, Mary, that you have been married four times and I've never been married at all, and I'm much handsomer than you?"

"Aye, to be sure," returned Mary, "but it ain't handsomeness that does it, Sarah. It's the 'come hither' in your eye."

Wise King.

"These hanging gardens of Babylon are said to have been 300 feet in the air."

"Why did the king put them so high?"

"Perhaps the neighboring kings kept chickens."

CANADA'S SHARE.

Dominion Has Played an Important Part in Steam Shipping.

It is interesting to note that Canada has taken quite an important part in the development of steam navigation. The "Accommodation," built by Molson in 1809, was the first passenger steamer to ply upon British Colonial waters, and ran between Montreal and Quebec. The first steam vessel to make a transatlantic passage was also built and owned by Canadians. The "Royal William," as she was called, was built at Can Blanc, Quebec, by George Black and J. S. Campbell for the Quebec and Halifax service of a Quebec company. She was built of wood on a clean lined semi-clipper model, 176 feet overall, keel 146 feet, breadth of beam inside paddleboxes 29 feet 4 inches, breadth outside paddleboxes 43 feet 10 inches, depth of hold 17 feet 9 inches. Her measurement tonnage was 830 tons. On April 29th, 1831, she was launched and christened after the King, by the wife of the then Governor-General, Lord Aylmer. She was towed to Montreal, where her engines were installed, and in the fall of the year made one or two trips to Halifax. Although she had auxiliary sails to assist her engines in favoring winds, the "Royal William" was propelled by steam alone.

When in Halifax she came under the attention of Samuel Cunard, founder of the Cunard Line, and he became very much interested in her, and ultimately became a director in the company which owned the vessel. It is said that it was through his connection with this little steamer that the mighty fleet which bears his name was formed.

In 1832, trade being very poor in Canada, it was thought advisable to send the "Royal William" across the Atlantic to be sold, and on August 4th, 1833, she left Quebec for London, under the command of Captain McDougall. After coaling at Picton, N.S., she arrived at Gravesend on September 11th; coaling again at Cowes in the Isle of Wight on her way. Her passage time between port and port was 25 days, during which she steamed all the way.

Canada and Canadians in the past have shown their genius and ability in shipbuilding affairs, and, now, with the establishment of shipbuilding plants in the country, it remains to be seen whether the Dominion will regain, in some manner, an almost forgotten supremacy.—Canadian Century.

Many Montreals.

The other cities of Canada are casting green eyes of jealousy upon Montreal, beneficiary of the mysterious Meurling bequest. The metropolis itself is not overland in its exultation. It may be only a mare's nest. There are more Montreals than the one we are accustomed to look to. And in this reflection it finds a Job's comforter, "Le Courrier de l'Ouest," bearing monition to the following effect:

"Some time ago our Montreal contemporaries announced that a French philanthropist rejoicing in the name of Meurling had died at Nice, bequeathing $150,000 to their city."

"The aldermen of the metropolis were very much affected by this generosity on the part of an absolute stranger. They are recovering, or at least their emotion is changing into one of another kind. There is Montreal—and Montreal. The largess of the late philanthropist was not directed towards the Canadian Hub, but towards Montreal, a little town in the District of Carcassonne, in the Department de l'Aude, France—unless indeed Montreal, principal town of Gers, happens to be meant."

"Montreal may have to spend a pretty penny before it becomes convinced, by the discovery of two homonyms in France, that it is not the only pebble."

Has a Canadian Wife.

Sir Henry Seymour King, the Unionist M.P., who has just been unseated in Central Hull, chiefly on account of a free distribution of what is called in England "coals" and of "sweats," in celebration of his 25th anniversary as member of Parliament, is married to a Canadian lady who was a Miss Jenkins, daughter of Rev. Dr. John Jenkins of Montreal. Sir Henry is the head of a great banking house, in the front rank of financial institutions in England and in India. With his Indian bank, his Canadian wife, and his reputation for mountain climbing and yachting all over the world, Sir Henry's interests may be described as truly Imperial. Formerly Sir Henry's business was a banking and publishing house. Over forty years ago the lines were separated, and to-day Smith, Elder & Co. is a firm as justly celebrated among publishers as that of H. S. King & Co. among bankers.

Islands of the World.

The islands of the world have a total length of more than seventeen times the circumference of the earth at the equator.

Carborundum.

Transparent carborundum crystals are now made of high purity and refractive power. Although they resemble diamonds in general appearance, they are so brittle that they cannot be cut and polished. If that defect is overcome there is said to be no reason why the carborundum gem should not make its appearance.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON X.—THIRD QUARTER,
FOR SEPT. 3, 1911.

Text of the Lesson, a Comprehensive Quarterly Review—Golden Text, Ps. xxxiv, 14—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Lesson I.—Isaiah's prophecy concerning Sennacherib (Isa. xxxvii, 14-38). Golden Text, Ps. xlii, 1, "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble." Sennacherib is in the line of Cain and Pharaoh and all enemies of God and His people to be consummated in the blaspheming anti-christ of the last days back of whom and through whom is always seen the devil. The devotion of Hezekiah to the living and true God was too much for the great adversary, and so he stirred up the king of Assyria against Hezekiah. But see how two men who knew God prevailed in prayer.

Lesson II.—The suffering servant of Jehovah (Isa. lii, 3, to liii, 12). Golden Text, Isa. liii, 6, "The Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all." We find this record right in the midst of the last part of Isaiah, the middle chapter of the middle section, and the middle verse is liii, 5, which gives us the heart of all Scripture. If with His stripes we have been healed, then as His redeemed ones standing against the world, the flesh and the devil, we must be content to suffer with Him and count it a great privilege (Phil. i, 29; I Pet. iv, 13; v, 1, 10). We shall be satisfied when He is (liii, 11).

Lesson III.—Manasseh's wickedness and penitence (II Chron. xxxiii, 1-20). Golden Text, Isa. i, 16, 17, "Cease to do evil, learn to do well." Of all the wicked kings of the ten tribes none exceeded Ahab in wickedness, but Manasseh in Judah seems to have exceeded him. By comparing II Kings xxi with our lesson chapter we see how fearful the record is. It looks as if he did the very worst that he could do. The conversion of such a wicked man should greatly encourage parents who have ungodly children, for God is full of mercy.

Lesson IV.—Josiah's devotion to God (II Chron. iii, 4, 1-13). Golden Text, Eccles. xii, 1, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth." This boy king probably knew only of his father's zeal for God, and may have been thus inspired with a similar zeal. When he was only sixteen he began to seek God earnestly, and when he was twenty he purged the land from idolatry and did that which the man of God said 300 years before that he would do (I Kings xii, 2; II Kings xxiii, 16). When he was twenty-six he began to repair the house of the Lord his God.

Lesson V.—The finding of the book of the law (II Chron. xxxiv, 14-33). Golden Text, Ps. cxix, 11, "Thy word have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against Thee." As he went on in his good work, God gave him more light by causing the book of the law to be found. This was a fulfillment of the word, "Then shall we know if we follow on to know the Lord" (Hos. vi, 3). If we act up to the light we have, God will in some way send us more. The Lord knew that Josiah would inquire into this and be obedient and humble himself before God.

Lesson VI.—Jeremiah tried and acquitted (Jer. xxvi, 7-19). Golden Text, Ps. xxvii, 1, "The Lord is my light and my salvation whom shall I fear?" It seems strange that priests and prophets of the Lord should want to kill a man because he spoke the words of the Lord, simply because the message did not suit them, but there were in those days, and there are today, professed messengers of the Lord whom He never sent, prophets of the deceit of their own heart speaking lies in His name (Jer. xxiii, 14, 16, 21, 26, 28).

Lesson VII.—Jehoiakim burns the prophet's book (Jer. xxxvi, 20-32). Golden Text, Isa. xl, 8, "The word of our God shall stand forever." It was not the prophet's book, but the Lord's book, which the king cut up and burned in the fire, but the book was written again immediately in a larger edition, and the Lord attended to Jehoiakim. There are many now who seem to have no fear of God while professing to be His messengers and who ruthlessly set aside large portions of Scripture, calling them myths and fables. The Lord will see to them, and Ps. cxix, 89, stands.

Lesson VIII.—Jeremiah cast into prison (Jer. xxxvii, 4-21). Golden Text, Matt. v, 11, "Blessed are ye when man shall revile you and persecute you and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely for My sake." He is still hated and persecuted for the truth's sake, even as many were before Him, and are now and will be till the kingdom comes (John xv, 18-21; xvi, 1-3). The father of lies cannot stand the truth and will not if he can help it, but he cannot lay a finger on any child of God without permission and then only as far as permitted.

Lesson IX.—Judah carried captive to Babylon (Jer. xxxix, 1-10). Golden Text, Num. xxxii, 23, "Be sure your sin will find you out." Notwithstanding all the peaceful words of the false prophets, the word of the Lord by Jeremiah was literally fulfilled in due time. This age of so called progress, which is the progress of all things to be controlled by one devil possessed man, the antichrist, will end by the overthrow of all things that can be shaken, and then shall come the kingdom of peace and righteousness.

WILL OPEN JASPER PARK

TRANSCONTINENTAL WILL ENTER
PARK NEXT YEAR

Train Service from Edmonton West to the Yellowhead Will be Established by the G. T. P. Next Year, and it is Expected That the Line to the Pacific Coast Will be Completed in 1913.

Calgary.—"Next year we will have a good train service from Edmonton west to the Yellowhead, right into the heart of Jasper Park, and will be able to take thousands of tourists there, to enjoy the glories of a summer resort that is without an equal," said E. J. Chamberlain, second vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway company, who was with President Hays and party on the special train that passed through this city recently.

According to Mr. Chamberlain the summer climate of the Yellowhead country is ideal, while the scenery is marvellous. There are several hot springs in the park and also cold mineral springs, the waters of which upon analysis have been found to contain all the properties necessary for curative purposes.

The hot springs of Jasper Park are very large, and the water exceedingly hot. Howard Douglass, commissioner of national parks for the Dominion Government, who has visited the park many times, and who is superintending the installation of various conveniences for the tourists, who are expected to flock there as soon as railway connection is established, has reported to the G. T. P. officials that the hot springs there are giving out a volume of water three times as great as those at Banff. The government is preparing to pipe the water from the best of these springs down to the G. T. P. line, where baths, etc., will be established.

Notwithstanding that there was no direct railway connection with the park this summer, hundreds of tourists went in by stage and pack train, and all were delighted with the outing.

The park abounds in big game, such as grizzly bear, deer, goats, and other Rocky Mountain animals, according to Mr. Chamberlain, who stated that their grading and construction gangs had been compelled to kill many grizzlies that molested their camps.

Mr. Chamberlain stated that it appeared quite probable that the transcontinental line would be completed through to the Pacific coast in the year 1913. Shortage of laborers was militating against progress considerably, he said. Great difficulty was being experienced in getting men who would remain at the camps west of Edmonton and through the mountains.

ACTIVE WAR PREPARATIONS

French Government Reach Agreement Which Will Be Presented to Germany

Paris.—The sessions of the council lasted for two and one-half hours. The cabinet adjourned to meet on August 31 at Rambouillet under the presidency of President Fallieres.

Although the situation cannot be regarded as suggesting an ultimatum, yet an important step has been taken toward a rupture or an accord, depending upon how the German government receives the proposal.

The instructions endeavored to phrase the French conception of Germany's position in Morocco and authorize Ambassador Cambon to offer specific parts of French Congo in exchange for the absolute recognition by Germany of French rights in Morocco.

Both France and Germany are carrying on war preparations and each power appears willing that the other should know it.

Immigration Is On the Increase

Ottawa.—During the month of July 29,621 immigrants arrived in Canada, 18,600 at ocean ports and 11,021 from the United States. As compared with July of last year the increase is 17 per cent.

For July last year the figures are 16,019 at ocean ports and 9,199 Americans. For four months of the current fiscal year, arrivals at ocean ports numbered 127,925 and from the United States 54,814, making a total immigration from April to July inclusive of 182,739.

Corresponding months last year gave 100,672 at ocean ports and 54,699 Americans, making a total of 155,371.

Temperance Reformer for Edmonton

London, Ont.—John Ayeart, a former preacher, who abandoned clerical work and secured appointment as a provincial license inspector to promote the enforcement of the liquor laws of Ontario, has resigned and left for the west, where he has been appointed general secretary of the Edmonton and Strathcona branch of the Temperance and Moral Reform League.

Will Put Church Union to Referendum

Toronto, Ont.—The Methodist official boards and church membership all over Canada will soon have to pass upon a basis of church union. The general conference committee will meet here on Wednesday, Oct. 18, to arrange for the submission of the question to a vote.

BIG ACREAGE OF SPRING WHEAT

In Northwest Provinces It Increases More Than 1,500,000 Acres On August, 1910

Ottawa, Ont.—The area of spring wheat in the northwest provinces this year is 1,500 acres more than last year and of oats 341,000 acres, but no increase is shown for barley. The yield of hay and clover is estimated at 12,189,000 tons for Canada, being 1.43 tons per acre, and the largest yields for provinces are 4,736,000 tons in Ontario, 5,028,000 tons in Quebec, 254,000 tons in Prince Edward Island, 941,000 tons in Nova Scotia, and 885,000 tons in New Brunswick.

This is what a crop report just issued by the Dominion census and statistics bureau says.

It also says, compared with last year's crop in the northwest provinces, the condition of spring wheat in Manitoba south of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway is 88 to 39, of oats 88 to 38, and of barley 85 to 34, and north of the same railway the condition is 92 to 77 for wheat, 90 to 72 for oats, and 88 to 50 for barley. In Saskatchewan south of townships 25 the condition of wheat is 90 to 69, oats 88 to 61, and of barley 89 to 69.

NEW AGREEMENT PREPARED

Miners Condemn Action of B. C. Government in Placing Constables at Coal Creek

Fernie, B. C.—The mass meeting of miners held here passed a resolution condemning the action of the provincial government in stationing provincial constables at Coal Creek where no disorder of any kind has taken place since the cessation of work, and demanding that these constables be removed at once.

The situation remains the same but it is generally believed that the Crow's Nest Pass company are preparing a new agreement to submit to the individual miners for a vote and that notices are being printed ready for posting. The mass meeting recently looks like a counter move to effect this anticipated action of the mine management.

District 10, of Washington, has sent $25,000 to the miners of this district, and say that this payment will be repeated whenever necessary to keep the miners here from want during the strike.

Another Big Gold Strike Reported

Skagway, Alaska.—The belief prevails here that another Eldorado has been unearthed at McClintock Creek, entering Matish Lake, about ten miles from the Tagish Post, Yukon territory. A stampede has started for the new camp, and prospectors for many miles are off to the scene. This is no scare, but probably another Klondyke.

Two well known prospectors, Reid Good and "Shorty" Austin were on the creek and found a lone prospector at work. He had a hole fifteen feet deep and although he had not reached bed rock had found gold pay. The discovery of this great placer gold strike has thrown the whole country into great excitement. Skagway caught the gold fever and the morning train over the White Pass was crowded with gold seekers.

Harvest Hands Are Stranded

Toronto.—A Torontonian who went with the early excursion, writing to a local paper from Strassburg, Sask., under date of August 20, says:

"The country is O.K., but a lot of dissatisfaction is felt at so many men coming out here too early. The boys, who are stranded at Saskatoon and Regina and Moose Jaw by hundreds, are saying hard things about the C. P. R. I for one do not blame the company, but the newspaper despatches, which misrepresented conditions here by stating all the men of the first excursion had been placed, which is not so, even at this date."

Civic Control Is The Only Way

Regina.—The first week's working of Regina's municipal street railway under normal condition shows that the system promises to be a paying proposition from the start. With only four cars as yet in operation the system last week, carried 13,206 passengers. The total taking for the six days being $672 which not only covers the working expenses and interest charges but shows a small net profit.

Another Instance of Sauciness

New Bedford, Mass.—The German cruiser Bremen, had a torpedo practice in Buzzards Bay recently, firing eight shots at a target towed by a tug along the west end of Pasque island. This is within the three mile limit over which the United States has jurisdiction and so far as is known here, the German government has not asked for a permit to hold target practice in American waters.

Duke of Connaught Will Visit U. S.

Birmingham.—The London correspondent of the Post wires that in view of the wish of both the Canadian and American governments the Duke of Connaught will pay an official visit to the United States. His itinerary will include all the chief industrial centres. The tour will probably take place during next February.

G. T. P. Let Contract for Branch Line

Winnipeg.—The contract for sixty miles of the G. T. P. from Biggar to Calgary has been let to Phalen and Shirley. These contractors have the work for the first fifty miles. Steel will reach Fitzhugh by the end of the week, 236 miles from Edmonton.

IN THE GAS BELT

Medicine Hat or Dunmore Will Get Big Smelting Plant to Treat Zinc Ores From Mines in Slovan District—Great Activity in Zinc Mining in British Columbia, and Work is Resumed on a Large Scale.

Vancouver, B. C.—Plans are far advanced for the building of a smelter for the treatment of zinc ores of Slovan district by the natural gas process, recently discovered and which has already revolutionized the zinc industry in Missouri.

The plant will be located at some point in the natural gas belt along the line of the C. P. R., either at Medicine Hat or at Dunmore Junction, a few miles distant.

Colonel G. Weaver Loper, of Spokane, one of the principal shareholders in the company owning the Lucky Jim, the well-known Slovan zinc proposition, is now in Winnipeg conferring with Sir William Whyte, vice-president of the C. P. R., in regard to the zinc smelter site as well as freight rates on ore shipments.

Hitherto owners of Canadian zinc properties have been compelled to restrict their output owing to almost prohibitive duty on zinc ores shipped to the United States and the high treatment costs. Most of these shipments were sent to Joplin, Missouri, as the experiment of shipping zinc concentrates to Swansea, Wales, and to Antwerp, Belgium, only proved a partial success, for railway rates and ocean freight rates reduced profits to the minimum.

In view of the possibilities of the industry, development work on the Lucky Jim and other Slovan zinc mines has been resumed on a scale unequalled for many years. 'Tis said the new process will render amenable for treatment thousands of tons of low grade ores on the dumps of the Slovan camps and which hitherto were considered useless.

C. N. R. Magnates on Western Trip

Winnipeg.—Discussing local railway matters, Sir William stated that he was much pleased at the manner in which construction work in the far west was going forward, both in Alberta and British Columbia. Asked whether his company would handle a hundred million bushels of wheat this year, he replied that he would be much pleased if it would handle from sixty to seventy million bushels.

No information was obtained from Sir William with reference to the object of the western journey of Sir Donald Mann. It was intimated that the trip of the vice-president was not intimately connected with the deal for the street railway, but that the latter would go through to British Columbia and would probably make a trip north to Stewart on the Portland canal, where both Sir William and Sir Donald have large interests, and where they have a short railway line under construction.

Winnipeg to Welcome British Editors

Winnipeg.—Winnipeg will extend a most cordial entertainment to the members of the British Press association during their stay here. The industrial bureau, representing the western interests of the city have arranged for an automobile sight-seeing tour of the city on Friday, September 1, which will be followed by a dinner the same evening. The city council will give an official luncheon and arrange for a special excursion to the big hydro-electric plant on Saturday, September 2.

Canadian Navy Building Deferred

Ottawa.—It probably will be a matter of some weeks before the contract is let for the construction of the eleven vessels which will constitute the Canadian navy. Before Hon. L. P. Brodeur, former minister of the navy, retired, he placed tenders received in the hands of technical officers of the naval branch to be reported on. These officials are now considering the merits of the various tenders received and will report later.

A Big Stick

Captain Hardress Lloyd, polo player, was talking in New York about the cessation of flogging at the great English public school of Eton.

"I am glad," he said, "that flogging is now done away with. Eton boys used to suffer a good deal from the birch. There was one Eton master in the 70's who flogged so severely that his death, when he came to die, was announced in the papers among the shipping news. They announced it under the head of 'Loss of a Whaler.'"

C. N. R. IN CALGARY IN NOV.

Will Tap the Northeastern Coal Fields to Help Out Supply

Calgary.—To relieve the local coal famine occasioned by the strike in the Crow's Nest Pass, the C. N. R. will rush its Vegreville-Calgary line into the city by about November so that the mines of good domestic coal to the immediate northeast may be tapped, declares M. H. MacLeod, general manager of the Western lines of the C. N. R.

"We shall do all in our power to help the city in this respect," he said.

Of the road into Calgary, Mr. MacLeod said 197 miles had been already completed, and he promises that, given fine weather, and no unexpected encumbrances, the road will be into Calgary by November. At any rate, even if anything unforeseen should happen, it will be in the city by early spring. All the grading, he said, would be completed before the frost came, and then it was only a matter of laying the steel. At present the bad weather was proving a serious handicap. The work of laying the steel into Calgary was necessarily slower than on some routes on account of the large amount of bridging that had to be accomplished this side of the Red Deer river. The C. N. R. crosses the Rosebud Creek, six or seven times and this naturally militated against rapid progress.

He declared it was too late in the year to contemplate putting up a permanent station, and that for this year they would have to be content with temporary quarters on the Mission property.

PARTITION OF FINLAND STARTS

Russia is Cutting Two Parishes Off Viborg of Strategic Importance

St. Petersburg.—The Emperor has approved for submission to the Duma, a bill cutting off Kivenehe and Nykirkja parishes from Viborg province and adding them to the province of St. Petersburg. This measure is regarded as the first step in the partition of Finland. These two parishes cover an area of nearly 1,000 square miles and containing a population of 30,000. The area is important strategically as it skirts the coast line for a distance of about twenty-six miles to the north of the present boundary of St. Petersburg province.

Many years ago the question of cutting off these parishes was raised in Russia. The Finnish senate agreed so far as Kivenehe was concerned but the present attitude of Finland is one of uncompromising opposition. The bill originates with the minister of interior, and was made possible under the law of June 30, 1910, extending the Duma's power of legislation over Finland.

Sir William Whyte to Retire Soon

Winnipeg.—The Tribune says: "A rumor is current in C. P. R. circles that Sir Wm. Whyte will in the course of a few days, announce his retirement from active management of the railway system in Western Canada. The persistency of the rumor leads to the belief that it will be confirmed within a few days. Sir William will continue his relations with the company in a capacity similar to that occupied by Sir William Van Horne. The name mentioned in connection with the rumored vacancy, is that of G. J. Bury, now general manager of Western lines."

Harvesting By Searchlight

Argyle, Minn.—E. Labine, a Marshall County farmer, is harvesting 500 acres of wheat with a machine working day and night. The binder is run with eight horses, four to a shift and a headlight is used at night, throwing light over the wheat field. The night shift of horses stand the work better than those used in the heat of the day. Labine predicts night binding will become a habit in the Northwest.

$100,000 For a Single Room

Tarrytown, N. Y.—Remodeling the big Pocantico Hills home of John D. Rockefeller, which is now under way here, will cost more than $1,000,000. The work will not be completed for more than a year. The alterations will give ten new guest chambers on the two upper floors at a cost of $100,000 each. The residence crowns the summit of Kykuit Hill, the highest peak in the great Rockefeller estate.

Arrange Labor Laws

London.—Montague Barlow, M. P., and Allen Baker, M. P., both recommend the adoption of legislation similar to the Canadian Lemieux act as an improvement to the British legislation in settling industrial disputes. In view of his appointment on the strike commission, Arthur Henderson, ex-chairman of the Labor party is postponing his visit to Canada.

Never Saw a White Man

New York.—A race of people who had never before beheld a white man or an Indian has been discovered in the Arctic regions of British Columbia by Vilhjar Stefansson, leader of the American Museum's scientific expedition which left in April, 1908, according to a letter received from him recently.

APPEAL OF LUMBERMEN

MOUNTAIN LUMBERMEN HAVE ENTERED A COMPLAINT

The Railway Commission at Vancouver Will Hear Cases of Abolishment of Tare Allowances—Railways Want to Abolish Allowances That Have Been in Effect for Years Past in British Columbia.

Calgary, Alta.—Matters that affect lumber users throughout western Canada, but in which the lumber manufacturers are particularly interested, will be presented before the railway commissioners when they sit at Vancouver, Aug. 30, by W. A. Anstie, of Calgary, representing the Mountain Lumber Manufacturers' association. These matters have to do with the proposed action of the C. P. R. in abolishing certain allowances for tare weights, and with the publication of through rates on lumber to stations on the G. T. P. railway, which the lumbermen have not as yet obtained.

The first complaint has reference to the proposed action of the C. P. R. in abolishing allowance which has been in effect for years past in British Columbia, and which shippers claim are necessary to cover the average variance from tare weights due to absorption of moisture by reason of snow, ice, and rain, as well as accumulation of filth in cars. The shippers also claim that the fact that their contention is a fair one is borne out by the action of the railways in making an allowance for so many years.

In connection with the complaint, Anstie states that the whole matter has been rather long drawn out, being handled first by the Canadian Manufacturers' association in the east, but to hurry the matter to a settlement the Mountain Lumbermen's association will now make representation on their own behalf.

The board of railway commissioners has already granted an order compelling a continuance of the allowance until such time as required for the lumbermen to submit evidence in support of their action.

STRENUOUS FOR JEWS IN WALES

Rioting Has Ceased Now Except at Bargoed, Where it is Noisy

London.—Except in Bargoed the anti-Jewish outbreaks in Wales have ceased. Public meetings have been held at Tredgar and other towns at which citizens enrolled themselves as volunteers to help keep order.

The Jews who fled from their homes, having now placed their families in safety at Cardiff, are returning to look after their abandoned property.

The Jewish World, commenting on the outbreaks, admits that in one quarter the charges against the Jews may be substantiated, but that in general they are baseless.

It reads the lesson that even in England among the dregs of the population the old cry of "Down with the Jews" has not lost its potency. That the Jewish community is popularly judged by its worst members, and that therefore it behooves the community to deal drastically with such members, who continue to be a distinct danger to Jewry at large.

German Engineer Held by Brigands

Salonica, Turkey.—Dr. Edmund Richter, the German engineer who was captured by Greek bandits and held for ransom of $22,500, was rescued on the Greek frontier and is returning here. Dr. Richter was engaged in mapping on Mount Olympus in the wild frontier region between Turkey and Greece under the auspices of the German Geographical Society when he fell into the hands of brigands on May 25. The capture took place inside Turkish territory and his escort of Turkish gendarmes was killed.

Shop Employees Reach Agreement

Winnipeg.—The close of the negotiations between the representatives of the C. P. R. and its federated shop employees is almost reached, and Frank McKenna, chairman of the men's committee, announced recently that the result is generally most satisfactory to them. There are 10,000 men involved, and another conference concerning the men on the Eastern division has been held in Montreal.

Business Men to Visit Britain

Winnipeg.—One hundred Western Canada business men will visit the principal industrial cities of Great Britain next year in June. This was definitely decided at a directors' meeting of the Winnipeg industrial bureau recently. Leading financial and commercial men representing all western cities will be invited to accompany the Winnipeg party, covering six weeks' itinerary abroad.

MISS JESSIE MACLACHLAN

The Popular Scotch Prima-Donna

In the picturesque little seaport town of Oban, Scotland, with its beautiful scenery and its inspiring historic associations, Miss Jessie MacLachlan, the famous Scotch prima-donna, was born. She was very young when she first revealed her unusual musical endowment, for Nature gave her a voice of rare sweetness and power. When she was but twelve she joined the choir in her native town, and with a thrill of surprise the choir-master heard her sing. So pleased was he with the possibilities of her voice that he urged her to guard her golden treasure with care, to avoid indiscriminate singing until she should be trained and perfected under the best teachers. He recommended her to devote her life to song, and told her, with a prophetic glimpse, that she would be numbered among the world's greatest singers.

Under the enthusiastic teaching of Edwin Holland of the Guildhall School of Music, and other masters, her training was continued until she was ready for her first public appearance. Her intense love of Scotland, a patriotism that seems the keynote of her whole nature, led her to realize the possibilities of the old Gaelic ballads, the heart songs of her people, and when Glasgow recognized her genius, her fame quickly spread through Great Britain, and the doors of conservative London opened in welcome.

At Balmoral she was commanded to sing before Queen Victoria, who expressed her royal appreciation by presenting to her a superb bracelet. For nearly two and a half centuries no Highlander had been summoned to the throne—the latest one being a MacCrimmon piper who, in 1651, had the honor of performing before the King and kissing his hand.

Miss MacLachlan's voice is a rich full soprano, vibrant with feeling and dramatic power. It is not the mere singing, the mere succession of pure liquid notes, that rouses her audiences, it is the magnetic force of her personality, her absorption of the spirit of the song that carries the words from the heart of some Scotch poet of centuries ago to find their echoing note in the hearts of his twentieth-century fellow-countrymen.

On her fourth tour of the world she is awakening enthusiasm wherever her voice is heard, and is now singing in Australia. In Boston, before an audience of 5,000, when she gave the stirring martial air, "We'll a Hundred Pipers," men jumped on chairs and waved their hands and shouted. In Toronto, encore after encore inspired new songs, until the singer grew weary—a welcome typical of her entire tour.

ITCHING ECZEMA'S CAUSE AND CURE

THIS DREADFULLY TORTURING AND OBSTINATE DISEASE IS ENTIRELY OVERCOME
BY

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Eczema is common to rich and poor, old and young, and is neither contagious nor an indication of uncleanness, as some suppose. Teething, improper food, indigestion, vaccination, poisoning by clothing or from ivy, etc., are named among the causes.

There is inflammation, redness, heat, swelling, discharge, formation of crust, and all the time annoying, troublesome itching and burning, which often becomes so torturing as to be almost unendurable.

This ever present itching is what makes eczema so dreaded, and it is this feature to which Dr. Chase's Ointment gives relief from almost the first application.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is not only delightfully soothing, but is a wonder as a means of healing the skin. It is not long before the raw, itching sores are thoroughly cleansed, the itching subdued and the process of healing begun. Persistent treatment will then bring about a thorough cure.

This great ointment is always beneficial to the skin, making it soft, smooth and velvety, and, besides being the most effective treatment known for the cure of eczema, is useful in every home in a score of ways.

Mothers use Dr. Chase's Ointment for the chafing and skin troubles of their babies in preference to unsanitary pore-clogging powders; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

"LINE CLEAR"

How Accidents Are Avoided When Royalty Travels by Train.

The coronation ceremonies have cast enormous responsibilities on the railway companies, and especially on the main lines in the south, running direct into London. For a considerable time now scarcely a day has passed without one or other of the railways being entrusted with the carriage of some illustrious visitor and his retinue, whose personal safety is an important question.

In the working of royal trains safety is naturally the first consideration, and the most elaborate precautions dealing in detail with every phase of railway working are issued to all having any connection with the working of the train, and these are supposed to be kept strictly private. Primary importance is attached to signalling, and whenever a royal train is being worked all signal-boxes on the route, and all intermediate block-posts, which, in the ordinary course, would be closed, are opened, and wherever necessary the signals are lighted a considerable time before the "pilot" is due, and remain so until the royal train has passed.

All goods trains are cleared of the main lines at least half an hour before the royal train is due to pass, and all shunting operations on sidings and contiguous lines are suspended. Drivers of trains standing in sidings or adjoining lines are strictly instructed to prevent their engines from emitting smoke; steam is not to be blown off, and whistling is prohibited.

Station-masters are charged with the placing of reliable men at facing points over which the train will run, thirty minutes before its timed arrival, and they remain at the spot until it has passed. The facing points are carefully examined, securely clipped and padlocked soon after the pilot has passed, and signal-boxes are visited to ascertain that the signalmen are fully acquainted with the special instructions. The greatest vigilance is observed at, and adjacent to, all stations through which the royal train passes. Approach road gates and gates leading to goods yards and sidings are closed and locked before the "royal" is due, and the station-master holds the keys until the train has traveled a good distance from the station.

Naturally, great discrimination is exercised in the selection of the drivers of "royals." Men of undoubted steadiness and experience, and with a perfect knowledge of the route, are alone selected.

Russia's National Anthem.

The Russian national anthem is the only national hymn which was adopted as such in open competition. Until the time of the Emperor Nicholas I. the English "God Save the King" had served Russia, but Nicholas determined to institute a genuine and native Russian anthem. He announced a competition, open to all musicians, for an original national hymn. A musical committee reduced the thousands of entries to two, and between these, the works of Glinka and Lvoft, the czar himself decided. The highly martial character, with the drums and trumpets, of Lvoft's composition won the imperial verdict, and it was decreed as henceforth the Russian national anthem.

Collects Emeralds.

The Duchess of Roxburghe has added another great emerald to her wonderful collection. It is said that the emerald, which is mounted in a circle of diamonds, was brought to London and sold by an Oriental potentate there for the coronation. The duchess has, perhaps, the finest collection of emeralds known, with the exception of the German Empress. The duchess has two necklaces of cut emeralds and two ropes of cabochon emeralds of great size; also a tiara of diamonds and emeralds and a stomacher of diamonds and emeralds.

The menu at the royal luncheon at the Guildhall was printed in English. We believe this innovation to be due to the fact that previous menus have been found to puzzle the French guests.—London Punch.

A TERRIBLE RECORD OF CHILDREN'S DEATHS

As every mother knows, the death rate of little ones in Canada during the hot summer months far exceeds that of any other season of the year. The reason for this is that the excessive heat brings on those dreaded troubles, cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery and other stomach and bowel complaints. These come on so quickly and with such little warning that often baby is beyond help before the mother realizes he is ill. During the hot summer months the mother must be continually on her guard to see that baby's bowels are working regularly and his little stomach is kept sweet and pure. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the home, as they are the mother's greatest friend. A dose now and then will prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly they will be quickly banished by the Tablets. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
